

The Time of the Shining Beings

We've here a soul who has not entered into earth for some period. But the periods of entry will be found during those developments referred to first in Lemuria or Mu.

In a period of development in that plane when there were a race of those called and considered Gods by the younger. It becomes essential in understanding the development of this soul and the relationship to the crystals and the devices for gathering and compacting the heavenly energies that you understand that those of the inhabitants of Mu were of two different strains of evolution. Two different races, if you will.

This one from the later or present root race. The Elders, the God men, the Atlan of the periods, those of the Manu, the remnants of an earlier time, an earlier strain, root race level of evolutionary development. Giving rise to your speculation in this time of the entry of such from other spheres or Gods from space and such, you see. And such descriptions as are popularized in this time, while as somewhat primitive in understanding or description, not so far from that you'd see. In that we find a time as described by the servant who penned the Book of Job, the period of creation in which earth came into her own. When the morning stars sang together, and all the Children of God shouted for joy. And there were the entry then of souls, the soul entities into this plane with them, some having knowledge of the Laws of the Universe developed in other times and places. For this is not the first or earliest instrument of habitation of the Children of God.

Then we find as well, descriptions of earlier times. That is, an earth before the earth, if you will. Or better perhaps, that we refer again to your own Scriptures, that the earth was created perfect. Yet became without form and voice. Then the presence of God began to re-form, re-shape so that the spirit moved over the face of the deep and gave birth to a New Age, a new world.

We speak now of an age of antiquity, lost to your present records. An age beyond the age that you surmise as prehistoric, the times of early Atlantis and Lemuria. We speak of a time yet before these, of an Earth before these, before the calamities, the collisions, the malformations caused by life on earth even in that time. The Fall before the Fall, if you will. All these references we make that you might understand that there were remnants of an earlier race that were seen by the residents of the great land of Lemuria as the Ancient Ones, the Shining Beings, the Manu. The Manu then taught the children of Mu, taught them of agriculture and breeding, breeding that is of animals and plants, particularly plants. For the Lemurians were somewhat genius in the development of agriculture in this world. That is, this dispensation of Earth. All you know as plants and animals of the present time developed, hybridized, cultivated in the Age of Agriculture, if you will that was the Age of Lemuria.

These Manu brought with them then the secrets of reflective energy and compressed energy, both by the relations of geometric forms and the interplay of reflective surfaces or that you know in this time as Pyramid Energy and Crystal Energy. These were not so much developed in Lemuria as in Atlantis in the latter years. That is, Lemuria the older development of civilization. These then migrating or developing in sequential patterns. That is, agriculture developed in Lemuria. Energy sources developed then somewhat later in Atlantis.

This soul then, first in Lemuria, seeing the use of reflective light in connection with agriculture, at first. Then beamed for the purposes of motivation. Rather simplified forms of the use of energy at that time, and not so much etheronic energy in that time as reflected energy. More sophisticated forms then were developed and given to the people by the princes of Atlan, and this one then became a servant in the house of the divine as indicated by the name in that time. "Il Sut," meaning The Divine Servant or Servant of the Divine. Was a servant of, and we use the term servant in the sense of employed by or student of the priests, who were as well princes of Atlantis who were so named. That is both as priests and as princes by virtue of their heritage as one of the Shining Beings, the Manu, and were Initiates.

This one a student then of the Initiates who experimented with, focused and used both the crystal and geometric energy for a number of purposes. But central to all use was that of inter-plane communication. That is, the originating thought and purpose, intent, in the building of the Pyramidal Temple with its capstone of fire or fire stone, was to provide a chakrum. That is, understanding of the Manu and dictated that there are centers in the physical body of man that are energy vortices that are the connecting link between the physical and the spiritual source of consciousness of that particular individual. The crystal then, an attempt to provide an artificial chakrum of the earth or a point of contact, a point of condensation of spiritual energy into physical form that can be channeled in such ways and purposes. These were carefully introduced by the Manu in this way.

There were built devices of protection, especially in this sense. That there were carefully screened and selected those who would become aware of the use of such energy. Thus we have in the beginning of time as you know it, the origin of what has become superstition concerning occult law. And became the practice through all time that occultists guarded heavily their secrets of communication with the Divine as a result of these initial attempts to protect such secrets from the uninitiated.

We find then the seeker before us in this time one of those given access, privy to some information regarding the operation of the crystal and the use of it, and yet deliberately blinded to facts or facets of information essential to the creation and operation of such instruments.

Now the focus in this time seems to be on the fire stone itself, although you should be aware that the earlier devices were of the interplay of precious metals as geometric forms and particularly of symbols.

You've regarded yourself as sophisticated in this time for your opinions that symbols are only meaningful as mental interpretive objects and have no power in form. But let the Wise One study the Ark of the Covenant and the Wings of the Seraphim, and see what power the symbol have. For the focal point of energy on the Ark of the Covenant was on the Mercy Seat, not inside the cabinet. And was as a result of the focus of the eyes and the point of the head and the gathering of the wings, concentrating the energy of the ethers upon the placement of the presence of God in the eyes of men. That is, the seeing of him on the mercy seat, focusing the energy there, and if such seen the power created by emotion or such, attempt to approach it in the physical and see what will occur.

Now you'll find then that there was use of sources of energy that you've not begun to consider in this time, including the use of symbol. For you'll find hardly an instrument, whether a flying machine or a source of treatment for medical purposes or weapons or whatever from Atlantis that would not include a carved figure, not simply for aesthetic value nor for producing a mental reaction, but for the knowledge and understanding of the power of thought form, of creating physical form, giving command to etheric counterpart.

This one then, and we're seeing essentially through his eyes as we describe that we're reading from the records in the present. Somewhat through the eyes of Il-Sut, in seeing the Temples there. The Temple in concentric circles of protective form. That is of walls, a place of mystery to most, though thousands over time were privy as servants, as workers, all worshipers of the Shining Ones as representatives of the One God.

Most focused on the ideal or thought of the Sun as focal point for this one in this time because of the repute of the crystal as being a focal point for the energies.

We find a subsequent entry of the soul, a later period in the Third Dispensation of Atlantis, when such instruments were less guarded, yet more sophisticated and used for a number of other purposes. As Il-Sut is seeing, these instruments as sitting in a sacred place, a Holy of Holies, entered only on particular occasions by the priest of priests who brought the questions from the people before this. As seen as an oracle in this time. And the days of Il-Sut were some 570 years, and he died.

Came again in the name of that time, Il Lat-Lan, son of the Divine Being, interpreted. And again somewhat connected with the operation of this. In a medical center, both for the purpose of prolonging human life, restructuring physical bodies in ways similar to surgery, though more concerned with burning and reconstructing than with cutting and such as you see it in this time. Was used as well for control of weather, for propulsion of vehicles. That is a power center, an energy center, a storehouse for availability of energy in that time.

And we find a network of these having been developed in several places about the earth as way stations, though subject to the central energy focus. That is, the largest and strongest of these in Poseidon, in the medical center or temple there. The others dependent on this central focus for their operation.

This one among those of the Children of the Law of One. Alarmed at the loss of the sacred honor and the sacred place of the crystal. We find this one involved in the rhetoric of the times, of attempting to subdue the outrage of the rebels in that time who were preaching to the people that the Manus and those who had gone before had unfairly kept sacred secrets from the people and all should be privy to the knowledge, the understanding of the Law of One. Many of those even who called themselves Children of the Law of One were preaching in that time that none should guard the secrets nor should there be secrets, but all should be brought before the people and such. So came power struggles.

This one familiar with the power of the crystal, remained, as others departed during the periods of the breaking up of the land. Witnessed to much of the destruction then among those in the final days whose physical life was destroyed by the over focusing, the over tuning of the instrument producing the final breaking up of the land in that time and the loss of life. Saw death and destruction, the burning of people and the city in that time. And so the soul memory is impressed even to this day with the power, the awesome power, of these instruments.

The soul was attracted into the physical in this latter time because of the memory. But not as one to fear the recurrence, not as one to preach or shout a warning, so much as one to remember the sacred trust.

Your mission is not to so fear of the awfulness of the crystal, but rather to show responsibility for the sacred trust, for in diverse places about the earth in this time minds are being impressed, again being taught by the Manu of the race from inner planes. And one step here and there at a time, developing so that such instruments for the concentration of the energy of the ethers are being created now in primitive forms so that there is evolution of a similar instrument being channeled from higher forces even in this day.

The concern is that these will be seen as sacred trust and handled as such. It should be noted that there is entered in the Earth plane in this day one who is an Initiate. One who understands and is responsible for the opening of the secrets of the Divine, both at Giza and at Poseidon. Look for him and pray. Prepare the people for this one who will lead the way, will reconstruct the crystal and will attempt its use again as an oracle, a door to the Divine and will show great and wondrous things among men. The patterns are set in the actions and thoughts of men and those who in that day were jealous of the knowledge of the secrets will you read it in your Scriptures for it is described. What was the motivation of the innocent ones in the Garden of Eden?

“Let us take of the sacred fruit that we may know the secrets,” you see.

The children who are ill prepared will again in this time attack and demand the opening of the secrets of the Initiate. The bringing to the surface of the water, the fire stone must be in the hands of an Initiate. There is not a man among you who through knowledge of science of the Law of the Universe and not being an Initiate can deal with the focusing of the stone. There are those among you who are dedicated. There are Initiates among you. But there is one chosen for this task, and he alone will make that revelation.

Now there should be set about among you a brain trust. That is, a coming together a council of those who not only have interest in these matters, but are as well, are Children of the Law of One. Those who are intrigued and would dedicate the self, bring yourselves together and in conference discuss and share while there is yet time to use the mind of the consciousness of those who are about in the present. Doctors A, B, and C others who care and would have such interests as will lead to the opening, the unfolding, be an instrument for bringing these together as a trust, a brain trust for finding, developing, laying the ground work for the Initiate who will come.
