

Excerpts from the Prophecy Readings of Paul Solomon

The Earth Is Pregnant

An Introduction

“Our Mother, the Earth, is pregnant and about to give birth to a New Age.”

Nearly three decades ago, at a time when many scientists, religious leaders and psychics were beginning to join the prophets of doom in dire predictions of earthquakes, calamities and catastrophic changes in the earth’s surface, Paul Solomon presented a refreshing point of view.

He described the coming earth changes as comparable to one of the most joyous of all experiences – that of a young couple awaiting the birth of their first child.

“The couple happily prepares the nursery. and they prepare themselves for a change in their lifestyle. They talk with anticipation and expectancy about the new little baby who will soon come into the world. Every woman knows she will experience some pain with labor contractions the last few hours before birth. But the couple doesn’t dwell on that. It is just something that must happen before they are blessed with a child. Their minds are fastened to the end result – the baby,” Paul said.

This is the perspective that the Source wants us to establish with all of humanity in relating to these changes.

“There is not to be fear among you of the changes that come, (for) the pains of the changes of the face of the earth are no more than the labor contraction of the expectant mother. And do not the parents delight with the beginning of those pains, and do they not look forward to that which is to come from it? Be thrilled and look forward to the birth of the New Age. Let the people know that if they can expect those changes in this manner as a glorious faith, as a quivering with anticipation as the earth would burst forth into new glory and light...Let (the people) know that this is a happy, blessed, expected event, giving birth to a new Kingdom, a New Age. Give thanks that you have part in it.”
Paul Solomon Reading 0530 – L – 0427 – FA – 0001 – WmK – New York, NY, March 7, 1975)

We don’t have choices about when, how, or even whether the earth changes will happen. They will happen. Yet we need not dwell on cataclysm and catastrophe. We have a greater choice. We can prepare ourselves as expectant parents, focusing on the end result, the blessing, the gift of God that will follow – a new heaven and a new earth.

An Appropriate Response to the Earth Changes

I would like you to know that from the beginning of time, there have been earth changes, and there will continue to be. In California, you’ve already seen a great deal of land slipping into the sea. It’s already happened. Things like that will continue to happen. And this particular area (California) is one of the most changing areas in the United States. There will be drastic changes in this area, and a lot of lives will be lost. That's nothing new. That happens, and it happens, and it happens. It's part of life.

What should you do about it?

What you should do is not try to figure out where is the safest place to be. I can tell you the safest place to be. The safest place to be is where your Source tells you to get your work done.

If that is in the middle of the earthquake zone, then be there. That is the safest place in the world for you. If you go to a place where there is no earthquake because you're afraid of the earthquake, then you're going to get hit by a car because it's not where you're supposed to be. So don't bother with the prophecies in the sense of figuring, "How long should I stay in California? When should I move?" Don't bother with that.

The only prophecy that you need to get in touch with is knowing your direction in life, where you should be spending your time and energy, what you should be doing with your talent and your opportunities, how you should relate to other people. Get in touch with that. Where can you best give your time, your energy, your life, your creativity to help the planet? Does that need to be in a place where earthquakes are predicted? If so, be there, and know that changes are going to happen there. Changes happen all of the time. That's what life is made out of and don't be afraid of it.

Many earth changes have been predicted by the Paul Solomon Source

The time of the earth changes is here, and the prophecies are coming true:

No funds, No food

"I declare unto you, you've entered the times when the changes come. You begin to see ... changes in climate, in weather, in features of the face of the earth that will startle men and begin speculation that the end days are at hand. You'll see it in your newspapers. You'll hear it talked in places you had never suspected the men would speculate on such things. But it comes.

And I declare unto you that the hungry will begin to be shut off, as the agencies begin to say, "We have no funds and no food." And the beginning of a famine.... , a time when men will begin to fight in the streets over scraps of bread. You will see men lining before the doors of your institutions finding that their currency has no value. You'll see a time when the judgment of God will say, "I have indeed heaped upon you blessings that you were not able to receive. And in mockery, you have despised them. And if it must be that in order to hear the sweet prayers of my children, then I must take away all things and leave them bare and wanting until they cry out to me. So be it. And it has begun."

It's happening now:

CNN is doing a series on the crisis in the job market and the hardships of the families of the millions of people who have lost their jobs. Other news channels as well continue to air stories about jobs being lost, families in crisis, and charities, whose purpose is to help them, running out of funds.

This story from Mother Jones Magazine's, November-December 2003 issue reported:

Henderson, Vance County, North Carolina

One in of Vance County's 45,000 residents is unemployed. The unemployment rate soared to 20% last March when the textile plant laid off 600 workers. Vance's County The unemployment rate of Vance County North Carolina, is 15.5%. In the last two years, throughout the state 111,000 people lost their jobs. So many applied for unemployment that North Carolina's unemployment trust went bankrupt twice. Social agencies (such as Franklin-Vance-Warren) who have traditionally provided funding for emergency needs for low income families and the elderly (needs such helping out on rent, heating bills, medicine and food) are being forced to turn people away.

(From Mother Jones Magazine, November-December 2003)

Prophecy: The United States will fight those "who have broken in on our shores."

Difficulties in those areas (Southern United States) in agriculture, of food, of production of food. Will become increasingly scarce and difficult... You will see that time that people in the streets will fight over a scrap of bread.

Now following this period, then, there will be some re-stabilization, yet entering into war, in this period, in this time, will make for much difficulty, much difficulty in the stabilizing of this. Yet the food will be more plentiful in that time, or there will be the beginnings of rallying so that those problems will be not concerning the economy, but rather, those who have broken in on our shores. For this country will be found to be weak in this time, and fighting among themselves because of the belief.

Then prepare. Be ready. For that that come as civil war in this day will not be between one area and another of the country, but rather brother against brother in the streets with no division as to portions thereof, but rather according to the beliefs. See that occurring now in Ireland, that occurs according to the beliefs. So will you find occurring in your own land and weakening this place that would be attacked of another. And we see that capital being moved to a more northern position, northwest, into the northwest. And in those times will this nation rally and (will be the choice of the people, then, of who will stand with the Sons of the Law of One.)

References to “Those who have broken in on our shores” and “brother against brother in the streets... according to beliefs”

Before 9/11 we didn't feel vulnerable to attack in America. Most people felt safe. And although the initial shock and fear of another attack has waned, as a nation our naïve beliefs that we lived behind an impenetrable wall will probably never be possible again.

Besides the obvious connection of the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, one of the difficulties and conflicts within the United States seem to be a tension between our Moslem brother and sisters and the rest of the residents of the United States, which probably includes as all of the nationalities, religions, races and belief systems as exist in the world. The second area of difficulty would probably be the pros and cons of the Patriot Act and how it will affect our civil liberties. We all want to feel safe again.

The Divine Destiny of the United States – How we can help!

The 9/11 attack seems to have brought the burst of patriotism called for in this reading. It is questionable how much of it has lasted. We may think that as individuals we are helpless in affecting the destiny of nations, however the Paul Solomon Source suggests we are not as may want to think through that belief again to make a difference. This readings presents ways we can fulfill our part in the Divine Plan.

Give yourself to a serious bearing of the Light for that you create about you spreads and becomes the consciousness of a nation. There is a tendency among you to see yourselves as holy and righteous, sanctified in the moments of attunement with God, but your image of your nation, built in your mind, and propagated and fed has become an image of a nation of corruption, of a corrupt government. Your thinking of it in this manner has relegated to it this destiny.

The destiny has been changed in recent years because of the formation of the new image. Only a decade ago, the people of this nation thought of this nation as guided of God with a spiritual destiny. You now despise your nation and your seat of government. Even those spiritual among you consider it so, feeling as if you had lost control. Better you re-establish the image and that you pray for (this nation). Lift it out of the mire, and think of it in a new way, as a nation founded under God and guided by and of Him.

But you say, that we see does not seem so. Yet, as often as you arise up in arms and pray with determination to rout out that which is not of the Highest, you see a glimmer, a reflection, dedicated to that principle (the Highest), moving to the fore. Yet, there is a bit of defeatism in these recent years, so that the nation, the government has become condemned to a new fate. Thus, those who guided the founding of this nation have heaved a heavy sigh, saying, “We cannot impress upon the minds of those placed here to carry forward this spiritual nation to its destiny.”

Thus, the destiny must move then, and must be taken to another seat of government, (a seat of government) seeing itself as morally responsible, willing to take that responsibility.

If there could be among you those given to the rebuilding of the image, of the power behind the government of this nation, as Divine Plan, as spiritually guided, if those about your nation could be persuaded to pray, believe, trust, restore faith in that system as set by those Founding Fathers who prayed and invoked Divine Power and blessing in every way, would avoid period of crisis here...

Now we have a period of judgment. And how will you be weighed in the balances? Will you be found wanting?

The food will be cut off, and the result of it, you will find your nation not producing the food it need. Will affect as well money and finance.

Then pray, pray and invoke that power that sets that planet into motion thus bringing about the higher reflection of that same truth, you see. Re-establish that faith. Reaffirm that leadership. Pray.

Prophecies on the Earth Changes

Shifts in the Earth's Crust

The Earth Changes that we are hearing so much about won't come as sudden change. As early as 1975, they had begun and they continue.

(The earth changes) have begun. You have found them moving as far south as the West Coast of the Southern Continent of South America and moving upwards toward the (North) Pole. As these move then upwards or Northwards, they will increase in both intensity and frequency, a gradual increase, (until) we will find such a tenacious equilibrium that suddenly there will be quite an alteration in the surface there with most of the area of the West for several hundred miles inland disappearing totally below waters.

From this time to that, we will find some tremors and some damage from time to time. Here and there a loss of life. Not so great a change as in that time, the combined effects of the tenacious equilibrium and the loosening or the effects of repeated smaller tremors combined with the excessive magnetism of (planetary configuration.) ... Will produce an imbalance and a shift in the crust of the earth that will be felt in the table-outlying regions of all continents, both the East and the West of (North America) as well as others.....

You will find glories and riches beyond that you have dared to dream of these places, but not so much as you consider of value in this time other than the revealing of the laws and the manners and methods of understanding of those people, their growth, as well as their errors. And if you could add with that you have learned, the technology, of the day, the technology of that marrying these together, you'll have an understanding of life beyond that ever accomplished on the plane of earth.

It will place a great deal of responsibility on all men living in that time, the use of those energies and laws as will be discovered.

Now the effect then for those of your area, those particularly informed as the frequency and intensity begin to increase. You will in all wisdom, then relocate.

But spiritual understanding the implications, not moving away in fear or running from the changes in earth, but rather understanding the purposes, seeing it as it were, that the earth is entering into labor, looking forward to the day when she shall deliver a new Son, the birth of a New Age, the dawning of new understanding, the return of the Prince of Peace, and the entry of a time of peace. See it as spiritual awakening, and rejoice with every tremor. And a change as the prospective parents rejoice with every convulsion of labor as it comes looking forward to the birth of the child. See it in this manner, and you'll serve it in the way it should come. That's sufficient for this study in the present.

Southeastern United States

We find land rising to the east from that that is the peninsula of Florida. And that that is the peninsula will join those lands as rising, or will be the western portion, the highlands, of that portion as will rise. These will be cut off, essentially, from that that is Georgia, but to the east. The greater land mass will be as connected with the eastern coastline, you see, further to the north or about Virginia or such. Now in the initial rise, will be as an island, yet will become a portion of a continent in the latter days of the rising, the changes, you see.

We do find shortages of food, difficulties in obtaining water, safety, shelter, during these periods, though dangers are somewhat less in southern portions of Florida than other portions of the country as would be inundated or destroyed.
Paul Solomon Reading 0476 - L – 0335 – FA – 0002 – JM, November 14, 1974 Georgia

Now much of this area will be below the sea as there is the completion of those times of the changes or the falling away. And much will be destroyed in those quakes. And particularly those waves, for that great wave or that great rush of water will come even over this place where you now sit (Peach Tree Street, Atlanta, Georgia) A great wall of water that even could not be described in words from here.

It might be imagined that the land to the east of this place will fall some several hundred feet. And that wall of water would come rushing across with great force, destroying any and all things in the path. And there is not structure possible that could withstand, save it be well constructed pyramid many hundreds of feet high and well constructed.

Split Down the Center of US at the Mississippi River

Question: We want to be able to support ourselves during the coming crises, on a farm-ranch. Should we settle in Hawaii or on his land in Holly Springs or where? Where will we be safe and most effective?

Answer: Let the decision be for the purpose of attention in the development of self.... fulfillment of self in this manner. Then those islands would be best. Certainly in no case would the environment of Holly Springs (Mississippi) and that area be safe during those periods of the change, that is, especially as there will be the division of this continent near that river and the emptying of the Great Lakes through this area, you see. Subject to a great deal of change.

Those of the islands will be involved somewhat in that rising of land in this portion, adding to the land mass in this portion, and will be a great deal of disturbance here as well. However, the purpose seems to attract to this area in this time, or that is, the attention should be focused in Hawaii for the period of development of self. Both can find productivity and growth here. Then give both to the furtherance of study in these areas together. But make it a common interest, a mutual interest. Farming will be well in that area as well, and will be of some service to others in these periods of food crisis and should be begun soon.

Structure of the Continents, The Hawaiian Islands

Alterations come then, in the structure of the continents. So that that is your continent (North America) in this time will be split in half, down its very center. And that Eastern half extending then further into that that is now ocean and rising in the Southern and the Eastern. Tilting as it were, the North and Eastern falling away. And in the West, that separation that comes. And beyond the separation, a smaller portion of land as islands rise. Those that are now the Hawaiian, only the uppermost part will be of a vast continent, and cities of splendor will arise from them.

Configuration of former Land Mass in the Pacific Ocean – From Hawaii to South America

From the depths of the lake in South America will be found a Temple rising that will have in its interior remnants of the culture that established the growth of agriculture on this planet, the origin of much of that you use then as food. This (area was) the south, southeastern tip of the continent of which that now Hawaii, was then highest part. The Western portion, then, tilting toward the East and falling away, you see, or falling as if into the center of the self in the slipping.

The Third Shift of the Earth's Crust – The Pole Shift

That shifting of the poles will come abruptly, and this area will be found in those series of changes of some three slippages of the crust of the earth. As there is the passing close of that Red Planet, so will the crust of the earth be attracted toward it as it would be approaching. So then that upper pole or the North Pole will point in the direction of its advance. Then as comes closer or at its point nearest the earth, so then will the pole point directly upward or in that portion, that direction that now exists, or near.

Japanese Save Their Islands

The prophesy readings first said that Japan would disappear under flooding waters of the Pacific Ocean. (The earliest prophesy I found about that was in 1975. However, in 1991, in a public reading in Nagoya, Japan, the Source changed that prophesy.

The 1975 Prophecy

Japan will disappear at that time – all of it. And you will find the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific giving birth to new places, new continents that are in effect, the old ones returning again to see the light of day.

The 1991 Prophecy

Question: Please describe the world disasters, earthquakes, eruptions, climate changes etc. that we can expect. Please comment on the prophesy that all or part of Japan will sink into the sea.

Answer: More natural disasters than man-made. However, man-made from environmental imbalances already are established, and it is unfortunate that nuclear forces are placed along unstable lines in this land, this country. We certainly do not see the disappearance of major portions of Japan before the next century. The prophecies which have been given earlier relating to the disappearance of these islands should be reconsidered.

It is true that there is pressure building under the plates of Japan, but the recent activity you have seen has taken much pressure off the Tokyo area. As these pressures are relieved in other areas, a greater portion of the country is made more safe.

You should, however, challenge your Shinto priests to renew their understanding of the use of the large poles or logs as were used in an ancient time in the establishment of this science as would stabilize fault zones. It is time to realize the similarity between the organism of the earth and that of the human body. And understand earth meridians in the same manner.

A Relatively Safe Area

As to areas for such, not a great deal is different. Wherever there is sufficient land for raising food and crops, a bit for the self. The safest places as to changes that come, the area of Virginia, the Western portions, in the valley there, the Shenandoah Valley. Many of these will be gathered in this period in that time. However, even in this Northern area, in the Northeast, would be safe and sufficient.

New Science

Techniques that Can Be Implemented Now

A Solution to the Problem of Nuclear Waste

Understand that prophets of a more ancient time could not understand such phenomena as nuclear disaster, therefore in their visions and prophecies they tended to describe them as earthquakes.

There need be a program immediately in Japan of literally farming a particular bacteria which has been referred to as a sludge from the ocean which has a capacity for digesting radio active waste. The farming of this bacteria is essential to the protection of the world from the accumulation of radioactive material.

It is true that there is pressure building under the plates of Japan, but the recent activity you have seen has taken much pressure off the Tokyo area. As these pressures are relieved in other areas, a greater portion of the country is made more safe.

You should, however, challenge your Shinto priests to renew their understanding of the use of the large poles or logs as were used in an ancient time in the establishment of this science as would stabilize fault zones.

New Science – Preserving Food

Question: Is there a better way to store food so that one might get the most of its nutrient value?

A-3. As already found in retaining foods, the nutrients and such, freezing somewhat better than traditional canning or hermetic sealing or such. But a step beyond this will be the properly oriented and geometric structure, or that is, pyramid energy will retain the essentials while dehydrating food, you see, particularly if made of copper or limestone. Some advancements, some research being made in these fields now, and will be continued until there is understood that principle for preservation, or that is, storage of this energy, so that it can be used in other forms convenient for the application.

Paul Solomon Reading 0476 - L - 0335 - FA - 0002 - JM, November 14, 1974

Food

Most Nutritious Foods, Food Storage

Question How may I plan for the future food shortage? Also concerning the climate changes, will they be slow over the next 27 years? Will the final changes make orchards, vineyards, citrus fruits, green houses advisable for this area? And what will the climate be for the intermediate period?

Answer: Now it would be well for the many in this time to reverse the selves or begin anew to learn those arts of canning or preserving in such manners as do not require the freezing or power to maintain, you see. And there would be well that such foods might be stored in large containers below the ground or buried in those places deemed safe for those times that come.

And in considering that which would or should be grown in these times, would be well that you used land in such a way as deems advisable for this time. Not considering those changes in climate for these will come not slowly, but abruptly, destroying all that is growing at that time. So that you would use the climate as exists for the intervening period.

However, that there might be the growing of the greatest value of food in the least amount of space, those foods that provide most nourishment singly for the human body might be considered. Or that is, while you are growing those fruits, those vegetables that seem advisable for the land, there could be taken as well such tubers as Jerusalem artichoke, that known as sweet potato and the Irish, for there is great value in that peel and in the boiling thereof, particularly those small potatoes. And those peas known here as peanuts in this area (Georgia), for such great value dried. Or that keep well and are well protected from the elements in either state and provide great amounts of sustenance for the body.

For the canning and for the taking fresh, for the groups, for the family in that time, tomatoes (use only vine ripened tomatoes) contain that greatest concentration of vitamins that may be taken. ... and maintain stability as well when canned. Now that crop that might be best taken between this time and then, for financial resources, would be tomatoes, for we find these in great demand in the times to come.

And among those who seek to develop, there will be the greater and greater demand for the Jerusalem artichoke for its balance in providing much that the human system would need and the ease with which these can be taken, for can be chewed raw to provide small meal or small sustenance for those who would carry such things and be in the traveling or the transience from one place to another, and as the people consider more the value to the body, there is greater and greater demand for such foods as come.

Consider these then in preparing for those changes and according to those questions as are asked here concerning those changes.

And in the Pole Shift, again a third time toward the opposite direction, so that there will be three separate temperature changes in this area. Making near to impossible the survival of any animal species or plant either in this area or upon the most of the surface of this planet. So there is little that can be done to prepare for survival other than the using of the smallest space or the concentration of the growing space, growing that which could be grown in concentrated areas or in small gardens, providing each for himself, providing for the greatest number of people in the smallest space.

The Economy – A Recommendation to Buy Land

Question : When should I put up my house for sale and where should I buy another house and could you give a location that would be good for me please?

Answer: (There will come a time when it) will be very difficult to market anything in housing, for the differences in financial structure and such that come.Changes in the economy (come) that make it very difficult for such exchanges,.... (for there will be)..... difficult straights in the economy about your nation. For that reason, it is well that all those who can own a piece of land, a bit of property in which there might be some food raised, some preparation for food about the self, some self-sustenance and such.

Housing Construction to Withstand the Changes

We included this description of the flooding in this section so you can understand the kinds of conditions the Source is referring to in suggesting these designs.

Now much of this area (Atlanta, Georgia) will be below the sea as there is the completion of those times of the changes or the falling away. And much will be destroyed in those quakes. And particularly those waves, for that great wave or that great rush of water will come even over this place where you now sit. A great wall of water that even could not be described in words from here. It might be imagined that the land to the east of this place will fall some several hundred feet. And that wall of water would come rushing across with great force, destroying any and all things in the path.

And there is not structure possible that could withstand, save it be well constructed pyramid many hundreds of feet high and well constructed.

Yet for the protection both within the earthquakes and the floods on that western portion or west of the city itself, could be prepared buildings on concave foundations or saucer-like foundations. The building itself shaped much in that fanciful drawing that you would see of flying saucers so that with the slippage of the earth's surface so might the buildings slip or remain intact, yet with no protrusions going from the surface to hold. Or that which is now considered foundation would be absent. Building resting on concave surface so would be as floating upon the surface, yet the concave at the deepest part. Going deep that it may hold it within the earth. Provisions then would be made for that incoming of power of energy sources, these others that make necessary the tying of the building to the earth. Then that proposal is that these would be freed from the earth so that that which happens to the earth would not affect the movement of the building or would be giving the floating effect then upon the surface.

Such may be designed in such a way with that concave surface so smooth and unconnected or unattached that would not be affected by the movement, the trembling, the shaking of the earth. These would rely of course on balance, upon that proper design so that the upper portion would resemble the lower portion, providing a balance of a system that would resemble those systems used on great ships for maintaining equilibrium or that of the gyroscope.

Now if such design were advance at this time or suggested, that one would be ridiculed. Only in those times when such earthquakes would come, a great factor in designing such a building. May a building stabilized by gyroscopic action be considered. One built so, saucer-like, then, with stability providing by the movement of the gyroscope would withstand any sort of quake and could be made to float as well. Consider such designs, for that time will come when you would be known for advancing such.

Priests of God or Priest of Belial? How to tell the difference!

You'll find about you in this time that as those who are attuned to the will of the Father and His energies, His powers, begin to discover those Laws of power and apply that, there come the corresponding understandings of this power by those servants of belial or those given to the human understandings.

You'll find side by side then, in your Temples, those men applying the Laws of God for God's purposes. These men, when they perform miracles, will perform miracles of healing and of lifting, and of elevating others aside from themselves to greater advancement and closer to the Father. More perfected in the physical, mental and spiritual.

You'll find beside them there, the priests of belial performing miracles of equal splendor. Yet their miracles will be the altering of material substance and will bring glory to the self and will point to life forms that are not reflection of God. But others, you see, claiming to come from this level or that or here or there, but distracting in intent and in purpose from a central at-one-ment. By such you shall discern who these men be servants of.

Surely there are beings that might well be described as from space or outer space or inner space or from other spaces. Certainly these begin to manifest in this time and have their priests upon this Earth who begin to reveal their presence and conditions, the people to the acceptance of them.

Look to what men glorify and who receive credit for that they accomplish. And (see) if that receiving credit for their accomplishment is the integration of all into the Universal One, whether or not using the term God. Rather the bringing together of man or the separating of man will be that understanding of whether the law be the Law of One or the law be the Law of Separation. There are no alternatives. By their fruits, you shall know them. Then judge these, and see what they be about.

That we see for that coming period as mentioned in this time will be judged from those opportunities as given in the break-up of Alta. That there were the priests of the humans and humanists, and these preached the laws of those ships, of working with and through those from sister worlds, planets and such and communications with them. And sought to say then, "See, there be higher beings here that are not God. For what then do we need the One God?"

We have helpers and assistants that are from other worlds and who fly these ships, you see. These expressions of the humanists. Those remaining faithful to the Law of One, then, found themselves building the Healing Temples in the New World that became Egypt then. Those accepting rather that of belial brought destruction and altered the face of the earth.

We find then those opportunities coming again. That we would see in the coming forty years can come in two ways. There can be and will be about the earth communities of Children of Light setting themselves so totally apart that they become self-sustaining communities during those periods when there is the fighting for control. And men will bring about those machines as for the control of others and for the control of the weather, and tampering with atmospheric conditions, even in this nation. And these begin already. For the preservations of the words of God, these will strike out in murder, taking lives in the name of God.

A Preparation Manual for A New Age

What Matters

....Children, if you could but understand, it has been repeated again and again through time that when there came a time of great blessing, the children of the Law of One were told by their prophets, "Take off all that you have of value, all those things that men count of value, whether earrings and rings on the fingers, jewelry and gold, or this, or that, or the other. Bring it before the altar and drop it there, leaving all things, choosing rather that you love greater. "

And each time such a message has gone out from the prophets, those children have said, "Surely this is but a figure of speech. We will accumulate these things and take these to be an ideal." You see, seldom have these been brought then by choice. all such things being brought, and laid then on the altar, that the people would find that of true value..... Then, failing to listen to the voices of the Masters, who give advice, then the Masters, are forced to let that overbalance come.

After every seven years of plenty come seven of famine. And that not given up willingly. then will be taken. And suddenly in the face of losing everything of value, (the realization comes.) Look about you and you will find your neighbors, your brothers, your sisters, starving, looking at their gold bands and saying, "What use are these? I would trade them for a scrap of fruit." Then they will be forced to look for those things of true value. Then, the attention will be turned from these things to God. And seeking God, they will find Him. So it begins to come.

Do understand then that this is not necessary. This portion of the change not necessary at all, for he who will lose his life willingly, will find it. He who will cling to his life and things of value, those things will be taken away.

A Look at a Human Transformed

That of spiritual conditions, then. We'll see as it were, though separated into communities of Light, will become less.

(We have here then one you see as) human or limited to human consciousness. (This human consciousness is not aware of) that soul memory or that that is a portion of this same soul for whom we read in this time. (In that time to come) will drop the limitations that you call the conscious mind in this time, being integrated with all the memory that is and with the Law of God. So that these souls, attuned to the Law of God, will be able to apply the whole law. (Now) you see and read in wonder of the activities of Ra or Hermes or the others so aware of relationship with God and able to speak with Him, as it were, conversing with the Father. (In times to come) will find these abilities common among you.

(This will be possible) because so much of the density of the atmosphere will drop away, you see, and so much less separation between that of the spiritual human and the presence of Spirit or God. Far easier the communication, then, of man with God in those times, as the atmosphere is shaken and loses that of the density from the pressing about.

These we find, and would comment that it is not so important that you make material provisions for that you will do during these times, but rather lift the consciousness to that point of being in accordance with the Divine Law, that you may manipulate, that you may apply those Laws in this day. And even in that time when there are hoards of those running about and gangs of those banding together in search of food and destroying others about, and cannibalism in your streets, these will be set apart into communities unto themselves, worshipping the Light and found in peace. Go. Be among them.

Requirements for Entry

...Comes a time of judgment, a passing of the Angel of Judgment, upon this place in this time, a time of trial when those things of satisfaction will be withheld, a time of trying the spirits, the determination, the commitment of those individuals to the task that is set before you, that task given to do. Anyone who picks up the torch, to bear it in this time, will be severely tried, for the light that you hold aloft will attract to you all darkness, will attract to you the moths to the flame, who will attempt to take your life, who will try you to the very soul, the very core. Be prepared for it if you lift aloft the sword, the torch, in this time. And he who would cast it aside saying, "I am not ready. I will not bear; I will not fly in the face of this judgment," then allow him to go in peace, with blessings, for this is not his day and cannot be carried aloft.

But let him who has recognized the challenge of truth, lift high the torch, knowing fully well that those who are irritated by its light will strike out. Those who proclaim themselves in this time Bearers of the Light forge into darkness against the fiery darks of the wicked, for not just those who are of the darkness will suffer in this time. Those of the light, for a part of the time even more. Yet only enough to set the flame, only enough to temper the metal. Thus established then and holding the flame aloft, those who come through those tribulations washing their garments white in the blood, these then become the model, the Avatar of the New Age, the New World, the Teachers. Those who will not walk through the fire, will not return, will not come to lift these.

There is held out to you in this time, a challenge, a flame. Let those of the brave heart take it, accept it, a move with it. Be not discouraged by those little groups here and there who are tried, and tried sorely by all those false in their own concepts, those not living the ideals they express. They will strike out in attempts to snuff out the flames, for it condemns them. Holding aloft your light, your torch will expose their darkness and they will attempt to extinguish from every side. Join not with those groups who seem not to have interference or difficulty, for they have no flame, no light. If there were a light it would attract that which is revealed by it, you see. That is the challenge of the time.
