Japan Prophecy

Paul Solomon Reading 9232 Japan, April 3, 1988

You will have before you the body of currently understood information regarding World Prophecy, the Divine Plan for the New Age, and the Millennium of Peace. You will also have the Records from the Akasha and other Sources as approved by the Christ and available from the Universe, currently understandable by the mind of man. You will answer questions I now ask:

Question 1: This Source has commented on the economy, "That the economy has already collapsed." Please explain this situation in further detail.

Answer 1: Well yes, the meaning of our statement that the economy has effectively collapsed refers to the fact that there are exchanged in this time only symbols of agreements and not a direct exchange of value for value. And the economic stability, such as it is, between nations is governed by political considerations rather than by literal economic values. This means then that currency and economy are falsely supported or represent false values and that actual value or true value must eventually express itself. Now watch for this scenario in the exchanging of the economy and the balancing in this way.

First you have something of a power play, if it may be termed such, between your former minister here ...{Name} San and ...{Name}...San (Japanese names) concerning this matter that the economic community of Europe is urging and pressing that there be established an Asian economic community with the yen as the basis rather than the dollar. Now such moves have already been made behind the scenes that this shift is taking place or that such a plan is being built, rather being forced into the scene, though your present minister is reluctant to accept that role and that responsibility for that.

And yet it comes, a combination, an Asian market based on the yen, and as it does, a shift in power. Further falling of the dollar means that the United States becomes much stronger in exports. Then for those who speculate in such matters, would be a good time for investment because that increase, export and the return to a more meaningful balance in the United States, will make a second shift in power, that means that the shift moves to Asia with the formation of this community and the yen becomes strong, but so strong that it becomes more difficult to export and it means an economic decline particularly in power and prestige for the United States and for the dollar. But at the same time allows for greater exports and a return to balance or stability.

Now the overall effect is the production of two large world markets, virtually isolating the United States with its history of power, of domination of economy which will lead then to the proposal for the establishment of an international common market using numbers rather than currency for a stable value system worldwide.

This will represent the loss of that which is paper value, which is to say, many will lose such certificates that represent value that are not real, that represent possibility and such. This will seem [like] a crash because of the re-valuation. It is a time of re-evaluating goods and services, land and such.

Now as to a time period covering these things. The development of an Asian market over about three years. Now during that three-year period and particularly toward the end of it, the US begins to regain economic power because of this decline of the dollar and piece[price of ?] goods to be gone out, but at the same time will so weaken the ability to upgrade facilities for marketing and supplies in the US, that it becomes an attractive investment market for those in other parts of the world.

Now this, which we call a topsy-turvy economy shift in values here over the next five, six years in the development of common markets and the decline and fall of the dollar, the shift even from the focus of the United Nations away from the United States in retaliation for the current disagreement between the United Nations and the United States concerning agreements of the rights of establishment of government, and rights to offices in New York and the development of the PLO, these ? more interest and power in Asia than has been found before. A new role for Japan in the world, particularly when this Asian Market, yen based, begins, for it is not just an economic influence, but becomes a greater political influence as well.

And be aware that the powers behind that one who was minister still largely remain and so that one who is now minister of Japan, is a powerful and skillful man and we would say talented. Forces manipulating behind the scene limits his days of control, for the further power that were before him come after him and are the forces, then, with great ambitions for Japan as a world power. And with the economy shift it will seem at first a boon for Japan for this Asian common market, but will so drive up the prices of Japan's goods, not just Japan but Korea and other nations as well, with the competition between yen and dollar, with the dollar losing its power, makes for a rebuilding of economy in the United States and it then will be the first of those to move to a new system innovating currency, which then has something of a domino effect to the rest of the world.

Then see that you own is secure, that is that you do own it. Careful of having investment in things that suddenly lose their value but still must be paid for. Careful of great investments in production here in Japan when those markets shift elsewhere. What will be your indicators? Look for the building of that common market idea and when this has built, for a time it brings prosperity, but that time of prosperity is for from three to five years. Then your investments should be placed elsewhere, for much of industry in Japan for a time during after period will decline as these economies attempt to stabilize themselves.

Now perhaps that is sufficient to describe that commentary as we have given before.

Question 2: Thank you. As geologists have predicted that California will experience a catastrophic earthquake registering 8.5 on the Richter scale within the next 20 years. Is such a prediction accurate? Please also describe its effect on Japan.

Answer 2: Well now the seeing [of] a quake of that magnitude in California is certainly accurate and must come and is building and is close. But do understand that this is such that it cannot be timed in such a way, cannot be seen in time in that manner. We see only the amount of stress that is there and that it is beginning to give or beginning to move, and it appears to be the conditions in those two weeks, end of April, first of May, when that stress is at its greatest point.

As to affect on Japan, let's look at it rather this way, not such a great danger of tsunami in Japan following that. Those dangers are closer to the coast of California and Hawaii. However, that great movement will precipitate a series of earth changes with more activity. Increased activity again and again in the years coming through the year 2000, as you have already seen building since '64. (reference to the Great Alaskan Earthquake of 1964).

In these last twenty or twenty-five years, you have recorded more earthquake and seismic activity and volcanic activity than ever before in such a short period in human history, in recorded history, that is, before the foundations of the Earth. Now this is increasing. And even without such prophecies as you ask here, you can map the increase and see the increase. These things continue to occur.

Now the shift from Tokyo to Osaka in power and position, in politics and economics comes as a result of damage to that coastal area, which also comes soon after, but we're not predicting this in the coming weeks or months. You have some time before such destructive effects in Japan. You also have an advantage here, an advantage to the possibility to discovery of the ancient techniques used in both China and Japan, and your Shinto priests if they search their history, and particularly in China, will find that there was known techniques for driving a power pole into fissures in the earth being as it were the islands here were a body, and if it were a portion of a human body with meridians, energy flow and would be receptive to a principle similar to that you know as acupuncture and the use of this can stabilize much of the land mass that are these islands.

There comes a time by the turn of the century when the largest of the islands becomes three rather than one and the movement and its changes come quite some time later.

Look for other difficulties that are of considerable importance, the stabilization of the climate and the atmosphere are far greater dangers than the dangers of earthquakes that you face now.

That should not be such a great fear - not such a great loss of life in your lifetime in these islands from earthquake and volcanic activity, but the greater danger is that done to the environment, not only through the burning of fossil fuels, the creation of acids in the atmosphere, the destruction of the ozone, the depletion of the oxygen and such, but the change in the weather patterns is drastic. And it is this that changes the weight of the polar ice caps and throws off balance Earth's orbit and allows for the approach, and we are talking after the year 2000, of the passing of Earth and Mars at the nearest point that they have passed in a few thousand years.

Now that is verifiable. Look at the paths and see that they become close enough to have magnetic influence upon one another. And if the Earth, then, is shifted even slightly out of its normal movement, rotation, orbit, you shall have the shifting of poles as has been spoken of. These come from tampering with the atmosphere in such a way as to drastically change the weather and the distribution of the weight on the earth.

Question 3: Can such earthquakes be detected by infrared photography from satellites?

Answer 3: Well, yes, they could very well. Infrared is insufficient to describe the techniques. These are already being explored and used, that is the use of spectrograph to record increased temperatures and increased pressures. Other systems for the measurement of increased pressures also come, that begin to detect the eminent movement, shift of these plates and the eruption of energy from within the earth. Then infrared photography, yes, but spectrograph photography is of further importance. And these are already being developed and you'll see the results of these soon.

Question 4: Please comment on the Iran/ Iraq war and the developing uprisings in the West Bank Areas in Israel.

Answer 4: Well the Iran/ Iraq war is virtually at a close. The energy there is at a quick decline and you'll soon see a major change in politics in Iran, a return to an attempt to re-establish self in a global respect, that is reconnecting with other nations of the world, the passing of the influence of the Ayatollah and the Mullahs and even bringing back the power of the family of the Shah. But more important here is that as the energy is drawn away from this conflict, the energy is turned even more strongly toward Israel and unfortunately, the introduction of nuclear devices into Arab hands comes very soon and is upon you.

Now, it is this that the prophets have referred to as an earthquake on the Holy Mount. We would see it as a nuclear detonation affecting the Holy Mount, which will cause Israel to seem justified in reclaiming that, and the beginning of the rebuilding of the Temple [of Jerusalem.]

Now this is still some two years away, but look for the time when world speculation turns to the possibility that a nuclear device has come into the hands of the nation of Syria. And when there is discussion of that possibility and the denial of it, and the tension mounts, then know that there is upon you that devastation that begins a major war among nations.

Now that which can renew the prevention of much destruction about the earth in that time is the work of those who are serious about the re-establishment of the understanding of the Law of One. For there is a device that is virtually complete and workable that will prevent combustion, that could place, as it were, a dome of protection around areas and even can be directed toward sources of combustion or nuclear energy, a device that neutralizes unstable elements.

This is a part of the discovery of the formula of which we speak. But the introduction of that formula and the disarmament of nuclear weapons in your time depends upon a serious search among mankind for one who can establish and prove the power of love as stronger force than power of fear. We speak of this not just in a religious or spiritual sense, but in a sense that will be expressed by that discoverer though the laws of physics.

Will produce a new theory of physics that will give an understanding of the power of growth as being greater than the power released when growth is destroyed or material is broken down. Virtually a reverse process of that used now for the splitting of an atom. It is the power of the growth of the atom rather than the splitting of the nucleus. And there might be seen through this new understanding of physics, a broader understanding of the power of the force of love for healing, for communications, for restoration of the planet for overcoming such things as war, crime and even disease.

There has been described a time of a New Age when such things do not exist. It is unbelievable to the mind of man that there could be an age without war, without crime, and even without disease. But let us declare to you that there was such a time on earth and can be again. And how then would population be controlled under such circumstances? We would declare to you that people would begin to understand the ability to enter and to leave [the body]. And death would not be feared but [would be seen as] the movement of consciousness from a human body, it being finished and completed in its work would be set aside and returned to Earth. And even that principle is so common among you in this time.

Mankind, understand, is the only species on the face of the Earth which attempts to deprive the Earth of a return of those elements and forces given him for his body, the attempts to deprive the Earth from reclaiming your human body and even its wastes. This obsession with clinging to the body and robbing the Earth of that, which it has given, is all part of the belief and the power of fear.

As the Law of One is understood, then there will be an entering and a leaving and a time when ships and communications will move by the change of vibration of its substance, including that of the human body, so that travel through the Earth will be as possible as travel over and about and around the Earth, and so will communications be carried in such a manner. Of such a nature is this new technology of which we speak and its purpose, and it is upon you.

Antennas have been constructed experimentally which look toward the possibility of the movement of energy at a speed greater than that of light. The overcoming of the speed of light overcomes the dimensionality of time. And the ability to step into other worlds, which seem so distant - but distance is a function of space and time. Space and time limitations are overcome by a change in vibration that allows one to return to what seemed the original limitation - the limitation that captivated human consciousness in a body. And the consciousness that is called the Chi, or Ki, or Ka, as it has been called in various cultures, is a force that can be used to propel the body to great distances, and even move physical objects.

Then would be a time among you when wise men will come together again for the establishment of a School of Initiation, a Wisdom School, a Mystery School, returned again to these lands to discover these secrets - that there is the use of consciousness that is a higher power, a higher force than any physical force that you know on Earth today.

Question 5: Who will become the next president of the United States and who will become the next Prime Minister of Japan? If the Source cannot mention his name, please describe his image and how will the relationship with United States and Japan would go. Please describe the future of the United States, Japan and China.

Answer 5: Well now we've given a bit of that already, Let's just say that as to the presidency of the United States, you can look to a continuation of the current policy or legacy. And in Japan a return to influence of him who has just left power, not that he will again become Prime Minister, but will be the power behind that one who will.

And we've given something of this relationship that you speak of between the Japan and the United States and even China, but do understand this that there is a movement afoot and the powers, the financial powers of Hong Kong are greatly behind this movement of the Asian market and particularly the democratization and capitalization of China. Do not hesitate to believe this, that these forces are real and that Hong Kong will have a greater force on China than China on Hong Kong in this exchange that is upon you, the passage of one to the other, and China becomes a major force to be dealt with in many ways.

But China, if she be wise, has so much to give to the world, particularly in learning the ability to preserve the Earth, to live with the Earth, to establish harmony with the Earth and to feed her people. This giant is more capable than other nations of the world of living in harmony with the Earth, save that which can be learned and taught in this land of Japan. For there are in these two nations a greater respect for nature than in other nations of the world, and unless, unless that movement comes from this land toward the re-forestation of the Earth it would be difficult to establish from any other source.

Then move behind your minister of re-forestation that Japan become an example and present the proposal. Enlist the interest of environmentalists and re-forestation ministers about the Earth in making a universal proposal to the United Nations for a year of re-forestation. With the goal that every man, woman and child on Earth, within a period of one year should plant a tree, somewhere perhaps in one of the Third World countries so needing of re-forestation, that in your name might be sent for a few dollars a tree that would be planted and bear your name, that such a program be put before the world that in a generation much of that will be recovered that are being lost so fast and endangers the lives of your children and threatens that your grandchildren's children will not see the light of day.

Now, we do not exaggerate the seriousness of the situation, though we know that prophet after prophet after prophet in every generation of recorded history has suggested that the world would end with his generation or the next. Still, yet knowing that we say that you've come to a time now when you need not listen to the prophets to see the handwriting on the wall, as it were.

Your scientists are your priests of today. And those who do research and see these results are warning you in as loud a voice as they can - that destructive elements currently in motion must not only be stopped, but must be literally be reversed lest we lost this living being that is our mother.

There are those who have spoken of the crucifixion of the Son of our Father on this Earth, but there is at your hands in this day the crucifixion of the Mother. Better know that she is a living being who tolerates the presence, and should be a symbiotic relationship. But when there is the devastation of her skin, her circulatory system, her respiratory system, all of the systems that keep the Earth alive, then you will find that you have crucified the Mother as well, and her children will die. Do not let that come upon you. It isn't essential.

It is the purpose of prophecy not to speak of frightful things, but to urge responsibility instead that there be concrete actions taken, that stabilize the economy, that let you know what is happening behind things in your government, in your economy and the direction that these things take. Be interested. Be informed. Make your voice heard. Write [to] those who represent you and be heard by them. Be a force that makes a difference in the world.

Out of Japan as well as that one [who] goes forth, who begins to speak the Law of One as we have spoken of, as he goes out to assist in the introduction of John who heralds the coming of the New Age, the Second Coming as it has been referred in several different religions. As that one goes out, let it be known that here, in these islands, in Japan more than in any other place on Earth, religions which seemed incompatible have merged. And there is an understanding among you here, closer than any other place on earth, that there is the possibility of inter-faith worship and a final understanding among those who recognize a source of life, that that source is love. And when we begin to worship Love Living and overcome fear and establish the Law of One, it will be a new science and a universal religion at the same time.

The salvation of mankind, the end of devastation, war and disease and crime and the beginning of a New Heaven and a New Earth.

Now we believe that that is as much as can be said through this channel in this moment and we are through with this communication for now.
