Japan Prophecy 1

You will have gathered those who are concerned for the future of our planet and its evolution. We call upon the Records and the Great Cloud of Witnesses and the Servants of the Almighty that they might communicate the clearest possible message concerning the future of our earth. You will answer the following questions.

You will have before you the body currently understood information regarding the world of prophecy, the Divine Plan for the New Age and the Millennium of Peace. You will also have the Records from the Akasha and other Sources as approved by the Christ and available from the universe, currently understandable by the mind of man. You will answer questions I now ask.

Question 1: Paul Solomon, Edgar Cayce, Tamo San, and Sacred Scriptures, including those of the Hopi, forecast a Day of Judgement when there will arise the possibility that our earth will be virtually destroyed by the agent of fire. Our small group seeks to actively change the course of history and avert this total disaster. The odds seem heavily pessimistic, therefore please give us a Divine Plan for the next 50 years that will lead into the New Age, the millennium of peace, and the New Order of things which will be given by John Pineal. What is our most effect course of action?

Answer 1: Yes, you speak of the words of your prophets who have spoken of a time when this earth may be consumed by fire, utterly annihilated, destroyed. You speak of the words of the prophets, but might you not speak as well of the words of your own scientists of this day, who discover already these prophecies revealing themselves in a manner of ways? In, for example, the discovery of the hole in the protective layer of the earth, the ozone. Already it is seen by those who measure such things that this increasing rupture in the protective envelope, exposes this earth to the possibility of destruction by fire.

You have the words of the prophets, but you have more than the words of the prophets. You have the observations of those who see the earth in this time.

You have the words of the prophets who have spoken of the changing of the natural balance of the rain which throughout history always been alkaline for the renewal of the earth, and it has now changed in pH balance to become acid, and increasingly acid with each day that you live in the manner in which you live, with the burning of fossil fuels, with the uses of unnatural substances changing the nature of the environment about you.

Even the production of oxygen, which to every school child is obviously necessary for dwelling upon your planet, there is already a measurable change in the oxygen/ carbon dioxide ratio about the earth in your day.

We do not speak of the future when we speak of these things. We speak of what has occurred and is upon you already. These things already have changed and continue to change at an alarming rate. The very spin of the earth upon its axis becomes slower with each passing decade. And it too is measurable. These things are upon you, these imbalances.

Now the prophets have spoken of a time, and have spoken about the critical periods in the change of the earth, and their words have been in some measure understood, and in some measure not understood. For the description of the “end of times” was given in a manner that mentioned 1984 as a critical year.

Now understand that to a measure, those things spoken of in ‘84 have happened, and have happened in this manner. That already the economy has gone past the point of balance and though you cannot see the literal fall, the crash of the world economy, it is observable that you have entered into a false economy in which, measure for measure or barter value, exchange for exchange, does not occur in this time.

Then, the stability of the environment is already lost. We looked for the earthquake itself in that year. Now understand that the words of the prophets were, that the conditions that produce that are available in that year. And that was correct. What is seen in that year is the change in the environment which is irreversible. The year 1984 was used as a marker for passing the line of irreversible damage to the environment.

Now that is to say that much of the effect upon the environment, the damage to the systems on which you depend in this time, much of this already has been damaged irreversibly.

Now at the same time, there is much that can be done to renew the Earth, to renew the resources. In practical measure, if you were to start today, what are the things you would set in motion to prevent the complete destruction of these islands, the alteration of the land face? Of the earth and the destruction of the people?

If there were a simple, practical step that could be taken virtually overnight, it would be this.

That throughout the earth, there should be planted a tree by the hands of every single living being on the earth in this day. If every person planted at least one tree for its _____ ??? on this planet so that you might reverse a trend, the trend being that throughout the nations of the earth, every nation is destroying more of the trees than are being replaced by those nations in planting the gardens and the forests.

We mention this [time] as a critical point for this reason; your climate has changed on the earth, the climatic conditions, the zones of weather, of rain, of dry, of desert, these have been altered dramatically. The relationship of carbon dioxide to oxygen has been altered dramatically. Both of these, the effect of the destruction of your forests, of the alteration of your rivers and your streams, (and) of the balance of nature.

The oxygen on which you depend for your very breath is provided by your forests, your trees. Your ability to breathe is being lost, taken away, robbed, with every tree that is cut.

It is suicide to maintain the rate of destruction of the natural surface of the earth, that which holds together the skin of this holy planet upon which you live. This living, breathing being on whose surface you live is being destroyed, being made sick systematically, by your relationship with your earth.

You must walk upon her as if she were a holy altar and as alive as you are, and knowing that her surface is a skin, as alive and breathing and vital as the skin about your body.

It would be well that you begin to imagine doing to your skin what is done to the skin of this earth on which you live, with the deep gouging, the destruction of the plant layer that is the surface life that maintains the health of the body of this organism, which has a circulatory system, which has a breathing a system which has chakras as you have chakras, which has magnetic poles as you have magnetic poles at your head and your feet. It has all the features, even consciousness that you have.

And this living being has tolerated our presence almost as if you were parasites on its skin. But how long can the presence be tolerated when it is as destructive, as if it were cancer on the surface of this planet?

You come to a time when the illness of the planet causes a convulsion, and the convulsion will shake the earth to its very core, and will shake about it those who live on its surface and will change the landscape. It is that that you are up against, you see.

Consider the trees to be heard for you breathe in oxygen. You exhale carbon dioxide. The trees inhale carbon dioxide and breathe out oxygen. When you destroy then a tree, [you destroy] that which stands beside you as your brother and makes it possible that you have your very breath. Let there be established upon earth a new philosophy of the relationship between mankind and environment.

Now you have coming into your _____ ??? at this time one who is called John. He has been spoken of as one who will establish a New Order of Things. What is meant by a New Order of Things? Let us attempt to describe it in this manner.

All that you know of science and technology in your day is a science and technology based upon fear, rooted in fear, meaning this. The relationships between you are established on a basis of competitiveness as if two of you had reached for a single grape at the same moment and had realized if you take that grape, I cannot have it for myself. And in that moment of belief that your interests compete with mine, there was established on this earth a fear-based relationship between individuals. Established those thousands of years ago when man began to defend himself against man, and when neighbor against neighbor believed that their personal interests compete.

In the day when that occurred in history, the Law of One became the Law of Duality or of Separateness, of Selfishness, the Law of Two. In the day that man began to see a man, his neighbor [as a threat] instead of realizing that that is in my best interest is also in your best interest, and our best interests do not compete, therefore there is not a reason for me to live in fear of you. That which rules your relationships with one another [is]fear based, worried that you will not accept me, you will not love me, you will not act in my best interest.

Even in the moment when one meets another to shake hands, there is in the solar plexus, in the heart, a little cringe of worry, of fear, what will this one, that one, think of me? Fear is pervasive. So pervasive is this energy of fear ruling the relationships between you, that it has pervaded all of your institutions from your churches, to your schools, to your government, and has become the basis for your science and technology.

Technology, then, all of your science of this day, is based upon the principle of destroying matter to release its energy with the idea in mind of supporting life. Now listen to that philosophy carefully. Your science is based upon a belief that that which lives must die in order to release living energy to support life. It doesn't even sound reasonable, does it? It is a technology of death and destruction. All of your energy, all of your energy sources that you use for fuel, all of these are produced by the breakdown of matter - taking life out in order to attempt to support life, producing death to support life. We speak of a very, very basic violation of law built solidly into the infrastructure of your science and technology, [this is] the way you live in your day and time.

When we say that one will come who will bring the New Order of Things, what we speak of is simply this; that there is one to come among you who will introduce a very simple, vital formula for a new technology, a technology of a New Age. This is, in reality, a reinstatement of an ancient technology, for there was a time on this planet when it was possible to move about the planet in ships, ships that flew by a principle, the principle which allows stones to float in the air. Now the idea of floating stones in the air seems rather odd to your thinking in this time, but let us point out these things.

The monument you call the Great Pyramid of Giza was built by floating stones in the air. Now that sounded strange when it was spoken from these Records many years ago. Yet, recently, it has been discovered that baked ceramic material, being a superconductor, when lowered in temperature to near freezing, these pieces of stones or slate or ceramic are caused to float by the magnetic field produced within them. This is observable in your laboratories in this day and time right now, today. The qualities of superconductor ceramics begin to demonstrate the principle that we speak of, of stones floating in the air.

Now we speak of that is this way, that discovering these materials, these new relationships between materials will allow your technology to discover that ships may fly, not only through the air, but through the earth and water as easily. You are beginning to realize in your technology that your body is not so solid as it has seemed, that the spaces between the molecules and the atoms should easily accommodate the spaces between the molecules of the earth.

And so as your understanding of physics is just slightly altered to see the earth as it is, to see the relationships between the bodies as they are, so your new technology will allow for the communication of lines of force, not around the earth in satellites and such, in such a ridiculous system as circling the globe for communications with the opposite side. When through the use of the superconductivity of the inner mantle of the earth, communication can be passed from this side of the earth to the other without time lapse, by using the mantle of superconductivity. The energies that are now passed in the atmosphere around the earth from one side to the other can be passed through it, and so can travel be accomplished in a similar manner by moving through.

Now, the establishment of the New Order of things depends upon a simple formula for the introduction of the principle of accessing energy at its point of entry rather than accessing energy by the breakdown of matter to force it to release the energy that gave it life.

This simple formula for the revolution of science will make energy available in such a way as to make all current science obsolete overnight. All of the current means of production of energy becomes obsolete in the moment that it is discovered that energy is so available about you on the surface of the earth that it can be accessed without the destruction of natural resources, and so the atmosphere of the earth can be made to provide electricity freely, without the breakdown of matter, and without enormous cost and with the availability to each individual of the freedom of energy about him.

Such instruments as a great negative ion generator that could gather from the city about you the destructive materials that you call smog to be attracted to such a generator, and this material collected and recycled to the earth.

Such instruments as anti-gravity devices, as instruments for moving into what has been termed hyperspace, all these instruments which sound like advanced technology, but which are simple understandings of the blending of the interests of life with life, living in a natural manner on the planet. These formulas for a new science are the establishment of a New Order of things.

Let us attempt to say it in very simple words, for it has been said by Tamo San, by the prophets who have come before you, "Live simply and in harmony with the earth. That which is needed as the basis of life will be provided."

You have heard that there was a civilisation called Atlantis, that it was an advanced civilization with advanced technology. Yet, you have not found as a result of that civilization, you have not found hybridized materials, you have not found metal alloys, you have not found evidence of technology that suggested a science out of harmony with nature. Why? Is it because there were no flying ships? It is not! It is because those flying ships were harmonious with nature, and what you find of the remnants of that civilization will appear very much as natural substances on the earth. The technology that is in harmony with the earth should not leave debris that will not break down and harmonize with the surface of the Earth.

Now we take the time to speak all of these words, keys, for this reason.

There is a bit of frustration here among us who speak from these Records, for we are not allowed to pass to you this simple formula of which we speak. We are not allowed because we are not allowed from these planes to interfere in the laws, in the lives, of men. We are allowed to inspire you. We are allowed to electrify your imagination. We are allowed to say to you, "Pray." We are allowed to say to you, "Stimulate your scientists to change their thinking from destruction to the promotion of life on your planet." We are allowed to say to you, "Publish this idea which challenges science to access energy at the point of entry rather than bringing destruction for the release of energy." We are allowed to say to you, "Challenge your scientists. Challenge those who are in control of your lifestyles to make a difference, to save the planet before it is too late!"

We cannot drop in your laps this formula. We can say, "Tell your physicists, tell your scientists, tell your researchers: Search for this formula which is so simple, which is basically accessing energy as it enters into the earth and as it is available in the atmosphere."

Revolutionize your thinking about the manner in which energy is accessed. This is your salvation. Without the understanding of this simple law which will establish a New Order of Things, you cannot save your planet.

How will John access this understanding of a new science and technology?

In one of two ways. The instruments we speak of, instruments for renewing the earth, for repairing the ozone layer, for building ships, which might be described as that which makes stones to float- that which can, as it were, almost vacuum smog and acid and the destructive elements from your environment. These instruments exist and are set aside in a tomb near that monument you call the Pyramid at Giza. If the Initiate who has prepared himself, an Initiate of the Law of One, shall enter into this Hall of Records, these instruments might there be found with the Living Formula of a new basis for technology and science.

Now understand that the one we refer to as John [Peniel] is not necessarily a single man upon whom is placed the burden for bringing a New Order of life to the earth, although such a man does exist. The reincarnation of John the Beloved walks upon the earth in this time. But we make this point, which is vital that you understand.

There are among you in this room, some who have in earlier times been initiates into the Law of One. If you can bring yourselves to the point of remembering in this time, you may begin to teach, to initiate again in this time, to bring initiates into the understanding of the Law of One. As one or more of you begins to make this change in consciousness and you make it complete, you provide an environment in which John can come and reveal himself and establish this New Order of Things. We say that to point out this. That you must not wait for John to come and make a difference in the earth. It is upon you that the burden is placed, individually and personally.

And how will you do it?

Begin in this simple manner. Make such harmony within yourself that the argument which occurs within your own mind, the insecurity that speaks in a conversation between the poles of your mind, the conversation that exists within your mind which divides itself from Self, which produces within you fear and hesitation and insecurity. That which is out of harmony within you, which makes your mind bipolar, which keeps you separated from the Source of your own thoughts, which maintains the veil between the hemispheres of the brain, that which keeps you separated from the Self, maintains the Law of Duality and prevents the Law of One or integrity, integration of the mind, the brain with its Source. [It] keeps you separate from the Source of your mind.

Bring together your own Self, your own wholeness, wholeness in relationship between yourself and your Source, and so you access the Law of One within yourself.

And what will the evidence for this be? How will you know?

When you have harmonized with Self, initiating the Law of One, then you become comfortable with yourself and your relationship with the environment and with your neighbor. You will begin to notice that you no longer cringe in the presence of another person, feeling slightly afraid that this one will disapprove or that one will not serve your interests. When you have so overcome fear with love that you are filled with confidence know this. Do know this and understand it. Disease does not occur in the body of a human being who knows no fear. That which you know as physical death does not occur to the body which has never known fear, unless that occupant of the body gives up his life for another, as did Jesus the Christ.

The power over life and death, over disease and destruction, over war and peace, that power to know love as the power of life is given to those who do not entertain thoughts of fear.

If you can give up your belief in fear and believe instead in the Law of Love, you can become an enlightened being, live as an enlightened one, as whole as initiates of the Law of One. And so you will have a voice to teach and to say, "The science based on the Law of Fear is obsolete. Governments based on the Law of Fear are obsolete."

Relations around the world criticize one another. One nation criticizes the other so building barriers to hold its citizens within the country and prevent their leaving. The country making the criticism, there are barriers around its country to keep others out. One nation keeps its citizens in. Another nation builds barriers to keep others out. And they criticize one another. This is the life of disharmony. Open the barriers between nations. Tear down the walls between religions. Remove the fear of threat between you. And so you begin to understand the Law of Love, the Law of One.

The Law of One knowing that my interests are not competitive with yours.

There is a group here, gathered in Japan, who are especially capable of sitting down together to write a working theology for interfaith worship. We recommend that you do that, that those of you gathered here become a committee for the establishment of interfaith worship. Meaning this:

You do not need a new religion, but you do need a synthesis of religion, for that which has become religion has been here and there and there and there about the planet. A pearl of great price, of truth surrounded then by dogma as if surrounding a pearl of great price with a large amount of garbage. Take away the garbage and put together the pearls, for you will find at the core of man's need to communicate with his Source, there at the heart of every valid religion, is the Law of Love and the Law of One.

Sit down and look at that which is holy, that which is valid, that which is truth within every religion and show man how they can come together across religious barriers to sit down and worship together in an international, interfaith Fellowship.

This is a step, a small step for breaking down the laws and barriers which maintain the destructive technology and lifestyle on the face of the earth. This is a contribution that this group can make. Sit down together and make a proposal. Create a working, practical theology for interfaith worship.

Don't approach this in a small way. Take your proposal before the United Nations. Ask them to prepare and pass a resolution. Proclaim a day of interfaith worship when people of all religions will go to the temples and places of worship of other religions and sit together in interfaith worship. Declare a day, a world-wide day, of interfaith worship, when people can come together in harmony worshipping the Lord who is Lord, worshipping Love, worshipping Life, the Source of Life, in a day of international, interfaith Fellowship. And let that day be a day of prayer, a day of harmony, of meditation, a day of lifting the consciousness of this planet. Prepare an atmosphere in which John can come, and assist the researchers in introducing a new technology.

These are contributions that you can make as a group. The establishment of an interfaith Fellowship can become a world-wide Fellowship for the realization of Truth, the true Christianity. But the Truth Religion, the Truth Center, the Truth is Truth and Truth does not compete with Truth, is not antagonistic to Truth. And wherever it is found, it can be found in harmony.

Re-introduce to the earth the Law of One and so begin the salvation of your planet.

Question 2: What is Japan's role...

Answer 2: Yes, Japan is crucial to this movement to a new period of the history of the earth. You find these things occurring right now.

It is true that the tribe, the so called, Lost Tribe of Ephraim, and some of those of the Tribe of Dan and of Manassas migrated to the East. And so many of them established themselves in this land when there was a land route between these islands and what is now called China. And there was, there was actually brought to this island a replica of the sacred Ark of the Covenant. There were instruments, the instrument that was called the Apis when in Egypt and that which was called the Ark of the Covenant in Israel. Both of these being items of gold placed in such a manner as to absorb the energy, the universal vitality of the sun and spirit, as it were. These were taken to the roof of the temple once each year to be recharged in the sun. The taking of that Sacred Bull or Sacred Calf, the [Apis]??, inside the stone temple that had no windows, allowed this golden instrument to release light in the temple, a source of electricity and even a source of communication which allowed the two hemispheres of the brain to blend into one, making of the mind an antennae, as it were, to access thoughts from the Akasha which communicates with the mind of the Source.

So the priests came before these instruments, the Apis or the Ark of the Covenant to communicate with God. Witness the description of the Pillar of Fire and Smoke. Here you have an instrument for the access of energy, which is as that we have spoken, the access of energy at the point of entry. The use of Sacred Geometry with the elements of gold and wood, with the elements that your very days of the week speak of in your country, in Nippon, as you speak of the sun day, the moon day, the fire day, the water day, the wood day, the gold day, through the days of your week. These elements brought together in geometrical harmony produce the Ark of the Covenant or the Golden Calf, which becomes an access of energy, which does not deplete itself, which only needs to be brought to be recharged in the sun once a year. And throughout the year releases energy, produces energy similar to electricity, to magnetics and which allow the harmony of communication between self and Source.

These things were kept sacred secrets because of the obvious. The destructive power in the hands of those who would misuse them, because they could be used by the mind of one to rule over the mind of the other. And so they always were entrusted to the sacred priests.

Now such an instrument was brought here to these islands and remains buried here, even in this day and may be recovered from the Hall of Records, from the place where it exists. It is not the only one in the earth, for there is one, as well, buried in Jerusalem.

Now we mention these things as quickly as we can that we may tell you as much as we can tell you from these Records that you may be prepared as a committee coming together to make a difference. Don't waste this time. Don't waste these words. Make of yourselves people of action to publish, to research, to take these comments further.

The United States reaches out to Japan now to say, "Put upon you the responsibility for military responsibility in this part of the world."

You have already heard that the United States has asked that Japan financially support the military bases of the United States in these islands of Japan. What you have not heard yet is that the United States also, within a week or two, will ask Japan to finance the military bases that exist in the islands of the Philippines. And your Prime Minister and your Diet are inclined to take on this burden. Now we tell you these things because Japan moves in this day into a position of might and military strength, economic strength. Moves into a position of world import. If Japan remains in dependence of the United States, an extension of that power, subservient to it, beholding to it, then you would become essentially an extension of that power into the East. Let it not be so.

Let your holiness, let the history of these islands as a place where the people of these islands have had more reverence for nature than any other nation on earth. Let your holiness establish a right relationship with nature and let yourselves become a world influence for peace, not for war. Let yourselves, as this little group gathered here in this room, let yourselves recognize the power that exists in this room. Look at one another. Recognize the presence of economic power in this room. Recognize the presence of intellectual power in this room. Know that if you come together, you can influence your government and world government, but you must yourselves become holy instruments living naturally and in harmony with your environment, to establish your position, your way of authority, to hold the government responsible for the direction that they take.

You will move quickly toward economic collapse. The day is upon you. It is happening, you see. It is already in the works and the currency of your nation, of the United States, of Great Britain, of the Common Market countries and of the Free Trade Associations between Scandinavia and Switzerland, these associations are about to merge currently into a common currency. But not a currency as you know it with dollars and coins, with paper money and coins that are passed, but rather with cards with numbers, that moves the flow of the _____ ??? from place to place. If this were based on a barter system, then we would move into a new world economy. This is very well. But understand that in this movement from one kind of currency to the other, you will experience a worldwide economic crash. And it is because of this crash of the economy that there will be the proposal of a new system of exchange based on these cards and numbers, the numbers being that referred to in an ancient time as the number of the beast. This crisis is upon you.

The financial crisis in which the competition between the yen, the dollar, the pound and the marc; these have become unstable and in essence, the fall, the crash has already occurred. It is only the fallout or results of the collapse of the economy that remains to be seen.

How do you then begin to structure your lives? Can you learn just a bit in this manner from the simplicity of the teaching of Tamo San? We use her as a point of reference for this reason. How much do you think her life would be affected by a crash of the economy? Would she not live tomorrow as she lives today? But would you? If there is harmony then your relationship with life around you would make it.

Now make it a precedent of the moment to move you life into such harmony with the environment. But begin to take steps to move in that direction so if all were lost in an economic crash tomorrow that it would not take your very life with it. That you would have established among yourselves that the relationship is such that one of you can support another in a community environment in which those of you gathered in this room have a pact with one another that says, "If such a thing were to happen tomorrow, a crash of the economy, you can count on me as if I were a member of your family."

Can you truly support one another so that you would barter and trade our services, your goods, between one another so that our currency is favored, based upon your relationship with one another, a love relationship that is mutually supported. Begin to live as community in this manner, and you will survive the economic crash that is just before you, that is upon you in this time.

Now these are the simplest practical steps that we can put before you in the short time that we have.

Let us quickly move to these comments upon the remaining questions that you have brought.

Question 3: How soon can we expect the initial catastrophic earth changes that are predicted in 1984?

Answer 3: These things have already occurred. Look at them. In these past five years of your history, it is a fact, check it for yourself, that there have been more earthquakes in these past five years than in any previously recorded period of history. So the seismic activity did accelerate in 1984.

Now notice that the effect of prophecy is something like this. If prophecy comes as a warning and it is fulfilled exactly as it was stated, then that prophecy failed. Now understand what we mean in this. There would be no purpose for prophecy if it weren't for the fact that stating a prophecy gives the opportunity for the people to hear, to prevent that prophecy from occurring.

Then if the prophet said in 1984 that Japan will disappear into the sea, if those who heard that developed a right relationship with Source, and many of you did. Many of you listened and said, "What can we do to be in harmony?" And you have virtually held these islands afloat by seeking a right relationship with your Source. Continue to do so. Then it makes it impossible that we can say from these Records that in five years time you will see the magnificent eruption of Fujiyama and the breaking up of these islands and the disappearance into the sea. We cannot say five years. We cannot say ten.

We will say that before the date of 2005 you will have found a change in the geographic configuration here from a group of islands to one land mass. Most of that you know as this nation will have gone. Most of the people from this nation will have scattered to the four corners of the earth, but not in catastrophe. Rather, going out as emissaries to bring new life, a new way of life to the planet.

Make this not a tragedy, but a blessing, the introduction of a new lifestyle, of a New Age, the carrying of the law of One to the world.

Question 4: The famine of seven years and acid rain. Would this be caused by volcanic eruptions?

Answer 4: The planet in seven years, in the lack of grain, already has begun. Look at the famine, the drought in India, in Ethiopia, in Africa, in the sub-continent and recognize this is only a beginning, you see. These have had profound drought and famine for five years. This trend, not necessarily from the volcanic eruption, though this is a major factor, but the acid rain is already being created and is increasing every day.

The rate of the production of acid rain is increasing and the time is upon you when no foods can be grown without being placed under cover, without having the water conditions, that the food may be grown. How much area is there about the earth available for the growing of food under these conditions?

You need not prophecy. Look at the simple formulas that are before you, the rate at which rain is turning from alkaline to acid and you will see the beginning of your period of famine. It cannot be more than seven years from the seven year period that is the darkest reach of time, you have about seven years to prepare for the growth of such.

Question 5: What will occur on May 5th 2000?

Answer 5: The introduction of a new being, that is to say that by that date, the Earth will have a critical mass. On that day you will either find that the earth is beyond salvation or you will find that because there has been a change in the consciousness of man, a change in science and technology, that there has begun through the re-establishment of plant life and trees, to re-establish your oxygen and will make of the desert a place that blooms and of your earth a planet of wholeness again. It will be a day when there will be a dismantling of unnatural structures about the earth, and a time of man entering a period of time of living, as it were, in Eden again.

Now this can be done deliberately at the hand of man, making a commitment to live in harmony. Or it will be done with the disruption of life. And there will remain after that date only a scattered few of your race upon the earth who will find about them the earth having shaken off an old age, beginning as it were again, primeval, and growing, growing into a dawn of a new history, only sparsely populated. History will be lost and will begin again as if it were from the roots, from the foundation.

It will be recorded in future generations as a beginning of time, and the world that existed before that day will, for a time, be lost to history.

Question 6: Please comment on the anti-Christ, World War III and possible nuclear war.

Answer 6: There is no doubt that the continuation of the nuclear fission in this time, for it is so little understood as a destructive factor among you there is no way that you can avoid mistakes, mistakes similar to that of Chernobyl. But mistakes so dramatic as to alter your environment. These come. You are not prepared. Your technology is not efficient to use such energy sources and control them. You essentially do not have the understanding to control such and to use it as a basis for war instruments is even greater folly.

Now pray for this. As John comes, as there is an introduction of a new understanding of science and technology, there will be the introduction of a formula similar to that given by Nicola Tesla which provided an umbrella of protection over an area, which dampened unstable fissionable material, meaning this. It is possible to produce a force field in which explosion cannot occur. Your nuclear devices are triggered by an explosion of smaller dimension, that is a compaction of TNT, of dynamite of a trigger material. If there were the production of a force field which dampens such unstable material, which would not allow this initial explosion which would then set off the nuclear reaction, nuclear weapons become absolutely useless when such a force field is produced.

Challenge your scientists to study the work of Tesla in producing a force field which will dampen the effect of unstable materials producing explosion, and so you can produce over your cities a bubble of protection in which such fission cannot occur. It would render rather useless the weapons of today.

Now this is as much as we can sustain through this conduit, this channel for this moment. We will break off this communication for this moment, and let [you] study these things and see what action you can come to.

And if you have come to that point where you feel that you are ready for a next step, then approach again and we will participate with you in building a plan for the future. We are through with this communication for the moment.
